Primary School | York

22.02.2023

Dear families,

As you may be aware, there are further strikes planned across the educational sector in the coming weeks.

The NEU has said it will hold strikes on:

- Tuesday, 28 February (Northern, North West, and Humber regions),
- Wednesday, 15 March (England and Wales)
- Thursday, 16 March (England and Wales)

The school's response will be to notify families via email and text at 8.00AM on the day of the strike about the classes that will be affected by the strike action.

It may be that we have some idea provided ahead of time, but the possibility exists that we may only know on the day itself, based on staff attendance, and families should be prepared to make alternative arrangements for their children on that day.

We will endeavour to make provision in school available for children in affected classes who meet specific criteria around special educational needs, and vulnerability; you will be contacted separately to advise of this provision if your child falls into this category.

We appreciate the inconvenience that the strike action poses to families, but also understand and support our colleagues who are choosing to take the strike action as advised by their unions. Any further information on our response, should it change from the above will be communicated as soon as it is possible to do so.

Many thanks,

Ben Sutton | Headteacher
